BARNET.

Albert William Warden, M. D., L.L.B. Born in Barnet, Caledonia Co., Vt., April 17, 1854, Albert W. Warden attended Peacham Academy, was graduated with bonor from the classical school at St. Johnsbury; received his diploma from the University of Vermont, and degree of Doctor of Medicine in 1880 from the New York University. Later, after reading law, he received the degree of Bachelor of Laws from the University of the state of New York. Mr. Warden served as surgeon in the Mary Fletcher Hospital in Burlington, and atterwards took post graduate courses in surgery and general medicine at Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York City. In 1884 when becoming a resident of the town of Union, New Jersey, he soon built up an extensive practice and during several years was surgeon for the West Shore Railroad Company. He was also medical examiner for various life insurance companies. For seven years Dr. Warden served in the National Guard of New Jersey as medical officer with rank of captain. During the Spanish-American war Captain Warden was commissioned as medical officer with rank of captain in the 109th Regiment of New York and served most efficiently at the recruiting station, sending men to the camp at Chickamauga, Tenn. At his home on the banks of the Hudson, Dr. Warden was one of the founders of the Free Public Library of the town of Union and was for the first two years president of the board of trustees of the Library Association. He was also elected to the board of education, serving three years, one year being president of the board. As one of the organizers of the Old People's Home Benevolent Association of North Hudson, he was the first vice president. In the Masonic Fraternity he was a member of St. Cecile Lodge in New York, Mystic Tie Lodge and Palisade Lodge, and in the Royal Arcanum he was elected, and served as regent. For five years Dr. Warden was Resident Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine and at the time of his death had membership in the Society of Medical Jurisprudence of New York, American Association for the Advancement of Science, and American Medical Association, to which National Medical Association he was three times chosen a delegate from the Medical Society of the County of New York and the New York State Medical Association, attending as representative the National Association meetings at Atlantic City, Philadelphia and St. Paul. He was also a member of the Hudson County Medical Association of New Jersey.

In politics, a republican, he was never identified with any faction but always used his influence for the public weal, and earned the confidence and esteem of the people of North Hudson. In May of the present year he attended as delegate from the town of Union, the republican convention of the 10th congressional district of New Jersey, taking great interest in the coming political campaign. Albert W. Warden was the youngest son of William and Isabel (Nelson) Warden. Inheriting from both sides the sterling characteristics of his Scotch ancestry, Albert Warden exhibited at home and abroad the thoroughness and perseverance of early training, and carrying with him the courage of his convictions he invariably upheld what he considered was the right and never failed in loyalty and helprulness to his friends. His sunny nature dispelled many a cloud and it has well been said that in his professional work, "Dr. Warden's cheery presence did as much good as medicine. Blessed with a fine constitution and splendid health he never spared himself in the demands made upon his strength, but was ever ready to meet the call of those in need of his skill or advice. In caring for a patient, a slight wound on his right hand became infected; prompt measures were used to stay the septic inflammation and treatment was given at two hospitals. As a last chance the arm was amputated at the shoulder but the operation proved futile and within a week after the first symptoms of illness, the brave physician and faithful triend at the home of Henry Gilfillan, Friday, when the schoolmates of Emily Gilfillan Davidson went to celebrate the 14th anniversary of her marriage with Frank Davidson. A table had been constructed at the edge of the woods just beyond the use, covered with evergreen and golden rod, where a bountiful supper was spread. All the "girls" brought something good to add to the repast and coffee was made near by over an arch made for the occasion. About 20 sat down to lunch. Stories were related of the school days when all went to the village school together and the many good times of those days were lived over. Tender

A Novel Entertainment The first annual Baby Floral Parade under the auspices of the Universalist society was a very successful affair. The hall was well filled, as many friends were anxious to see the babies in their gala attire. There were ten carriages in line, all beautifully decorated with flowers, crepe paper, ferns, and in many tatsetul ways. The babies entered were Donald, son of Dr. and Mrs. Cheney, Valeria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Darling, Alberta, daughter of Elwyn Campbell, Edna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Paris, Phillis and Florence, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. La-France, Clarence, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Newton, Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlet Hubbard, Millicent, daughter of Rev. Rowena Clark, in very dainty costume was enthroned as Queen Titania, with Ruth McDowell and Celeste Evans as attendants, Walker Hovey and Homer Ruggles as pages. Music was furnished by Mrs. Henry Brown, piano, Edward Earle, cornet and Francis Jewell, flute. The carriages made a beautiful display as they paraded around the hall, with their dainty occupants, all so innocent and winning. The Darling carriage was trimmed with pink crepe and drawn by Misses Carolyn Darling and Flavia Folsom driven by reins of pink ribbon. A great many of the carriages used flowers for decorations, some trimmed entirely with sweet peas, pansies, rudbeckia, maiden hair fern, clover, etc. The judges were all out of-town ladies, and must have had a bard task to decide among the various candidates. The $5 prize for the best decorated carriage was awarded to Jack Donald Cheney's carriage, and the silver b by spoon for the handsomest baby to Elizabeth Hubbard. Honorable mention was made of Alberta Campbell. for both baby and carriage. After the parade ice cream and cake were served to a good number, and music was furnished for the children to dance until about six o'clock. The whole affair passed off very successfully, and reflects great credit on all those concerned, and who had it in charge. The Universalist society netted about $16 from the parade.

Meeting State Court. C. O. F. The semi-annual meeting of the Ver-mont State Court, Catholic Order of Foresters, was held here August 9. All of the members were present with one exception. Matters pertaining to the welfare and conduct of the subordinate courts and the order were discussed and acted upon. Owing to the removal of A. A. Duba, a director, to Iowa, R. J Cusson was elected to fill the vacancy. The reports from the various courts showed a healthy growth during the past six months and everything in a prosperous condition. In the evening the degree work was exemplified by the aged couple left their own home and officers of the state court. The Lyndonville Military Band went to Fairlee Wednesday and turnished music for their "Gala Day," giving a concert in the afternoon and in the evening. A fine time was enjoyed by the cottagers and visiting friends. On Friday evening they gave their usual concert with fair weather and a good attendance. The Good Templars served ice cream and cake at tables near the bank, and were well patronized. On Monday the band went to Boston to the G. A. R. encampment, escorting Farnsworth Post, No. 106, of this place. The boys returned Wednesday morning well pleased with their trip, and having added fresh laurels to their already long list. Water in the reservoir is still very low, and the utmost economy is necessary in its use. It seems evident that the proposed addition to our water supply which we understand can be made with out an extravagant outlay, should be made at once, that we may never again have to undergo such an ordeal. We are now greatly in need of rain, for though we have occasional showers, we have not enough to start the springs, many of which have failed for the first time.

At a recent meeting of the Congregational church society financial matters and plans for the future were discussed Now that this church has separated from the one at East Burke, it is thought that from $1000 to $1200 should be raised here as a salary, aside from the par-sonage. Several large subscriptions have been raised on this condition, and it is expected a new minister will be called soon.

A Pleasant Birthday Party. Mrs. Leonard Pearsons, formerly of Northfield, who now resides with her daughter, Mrs. John Nichols, was given a party Thursday, it being her 77th birthday. There were present four of her daughters, Ellen, Mrs. John Nichols, Miss Anna Pearsons, Hattie, Mrs. L. D. Brown of Concord, N. H.; and Marion. Mrs. James Cone of Northfield; also eight grandchildren and eight great-grandenildren; Mrs. Mary Lamine and son of St. Johnsbury, Mrs. Jennie Lang of Lyndon, with five children, Mrs. Lilla Knight and daughter, Mrs. Fannie Simpson of St. Johnsbury, Corinne, Leonard and Frank Cone of Northfield, and Mrs. Lottie Pike and son of Concord, N. H. These with others to the number of 29 sat down at noon to a sumptuous repast and later were served with ice cream and cake. Several old triends from this village called during the afternoon to offer congratulations and a number of useful presents were left for Mrs. Pearsons, beside a gift of money from a daughter, Mrs. Ella Stone, of Almena, Kansas.

Death of Mrs. Dees Mrs. Rose Clement Deos died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Will Williamson, aged 89 years and five months. Mrs. Deos was the daughter of Francis and Mary Clement and her home was in Canada until the year 1837, one year after her marriage to Dister Deos, when they moved to Lyndon and they have lived here and in the town of Wheelock ever since, but the last 20 years have been spent in Lyndon. Fourteen children were born to them of whom twelve are now living, and five sons and five daughters attended her funeral as well as 15 grandchildren. Six years ago the services were attended Sunday by Rev.

family gathering at John Nichols', Thursday. A union service was held at the Con-gregational church Sunday with special reference to those who were visiting their old home. Rev. Mr. Clark spoke upon the subject "The Opportunities of a Country Church", which was followed by remarks upon the subject by several others. Special music was provided and the church was decorated with a profusion of cut flowers. Both Sunday schools in this village attended the union picnic at the Lyndonville camp grounds, Tuesday.

When He Killed His First Man The killing of a brother man, even in battle, is a painful thing to remember. A soldier of the war thus vividly described his first experience: "My first man I saw but twenty seconds, but I shall remember him forever. I was standing by my gun when a Confederate infantry soldier rushed up. I whipped out my revolver and took him through the breast. He tossed up his arms, gave me the strangest look in the world and fell forward upon his face. He had blue eyes, brown curling hair, a dark mustache and a handsome face. I thought the instant I fired that I should have loved that man if I had known him. I tell you war is terrible business."-Youth's Companion.

Something to Give Them. "Mary," said the invalid to his wife, when the doctor pronounced it a case of scarlet fever, "If any of my creditors call, tell them that I am at last in a condition to give them something."
